ESPEE CONTEMPLATES BRIDGE ACROSS STRAITS SACCO AND VANZETTI DOOMED

PERMITTOWARD BUILDING SPAN GIVEN TO R. R.

Rumors Credit Plans To Call For $12,000,000
Span For Trains

A high level railroad bridge across Carquinez straits to replace the present ferrying system between Port Costa and Benicia, is being contemplated by the Southern Pacific company.

$12,000,000 SPAN
Rumors current for years credit the railroad company with plans for a span of great clearance at a cost ranging between $12,000,000 and $14,000,000.

Present plans call for a bridge to carry trains only and make no provision for autos. But it was considered possible that the bridge foundations might be made strong enough to carry a second deck to be added later.

That the project for constructing a great railroad bridge across Suisun Bay between Bulls Head and Army Point by the Southern Pacific company is progressing rapidly was revealed yesterday when notice was posted at the office of the U. S. Department Engineers in the Custom House, San Francisco, that permit had been sought by and issued to the Duncan, Harbison Construction Co. to make borings and take soundings for a bridge to span the Suisun Bay from Army Point on the Solano shore to Suisun Point on the Contra Costa shore.

Lodge Members Given Auto Tour

Completing a three day convention in Richmond, members of the Daughters of St. George were yesterday given an impromptu motor tour about the city to points of interest, through the co-operation of Marie Macdonald Jensen, secretary of the Richmond Merchants' Association.

Richmond industrial sites were visited and the probabilities of further expansion pointed out. Automobiles were donated by the following: C. C. Kratzer, J. P. Strom, Harry Curry, G. E. Milnes, Emil Iversen, and Henry Johnson. Johnson headed the parade and was voted an excellent guide.

TWO BIRTHS

The Richmond Maternity hospital reports the birth of two boys. The parents of the new arrivals are: Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Sump of 328 Twenty-second street and Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. McCarthy of 617 Tenth street.

U. S. MARINES ON OFFENSIVE

(City Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—American marines have occupied the town of San Albino, Nicaragua, recovering the American mine seized by the bandit Sandino several weeks ago, the Navy Department announced today.

American Minister Eberhardt reported from Managua that Gen. Falgado and his followers, who recently broke away from Sandino, have disbanded. He reported conditions tranquil.

Sandino, who is being pursued by the marines is believed to be retreating to the east coast near the Honduran border along the Rio Coco. The marines have occupied Jicaro on their advance.

Local Hunting Party Returns With "Booty"

Farmers in the Livermore vicinity were startled last Friday by a fully equipped pack train pushing into the wilds of the thickly wooded country. Two mountain guides led the fearless expedition. "It must be one of them that wild animal hunting expeditions like we seen at the pitcher show last week," said one of the natives.

But it wasn't. It was Dan Cox, Richmond's chief of police; Constable Arthur A. Alstrom, L. W. Evans, of the Republic Steel Package company, Carl Porter of the same concern and Albert De Soto, of the Standard Oil company. And they were hunting for deer.

They have returned and brought back with them one deer... although they saw many more. But the ones they saw were fawns and does, according to Constable Alstrom, and the intrepid hunters refused to slay them.

CAR FELL'S PHONE POLE

Since San Pablo avenue at the Santa Fe crossing at the Richmond-El Cerrito line was too narrow for both Eugene Connati of 33 Thirteenth street, Richmond, and C. M. Texahl of 2019 Woolsey street, Berkeley, Texahl's new Buick chopped down a large telephone pole. No injuries resulted from the encounter.

Work On County Preventorium For Sick Children Progresses

Work of remodeling four cottages in Marsh Creek Canyon and improving surrounding grounds preparatory to opening the structures as a county preventorium is being carried on rapidly by the Contra Costa Public Health Association and the county. Dispatch with which work is being accomplished promises that the structure will be ready for occupancy early in September. Accommodations are being prepared for fifteen children patients and several nurses.

Establishment of the preventorium as a unit of a permanent county institution was urged on the board of supervisors by the health association, which conducted the campaign to raise $3000 in the county for the institution. The club proposes to enlist service organizations throughout Contra Costa in the campaign and is preparing a county budget.

Honor Roll Of Citizens In Favor Of Bond Issue Grows

The Richmond Municipal Band of support of the harbor bonds was that of Rev. M. H. Greenlee, pastor of the Community M. E. Church, South, received at the campaign headquarters yesterday. Mr. Greenlee wrote as follows: "You may count on me to render any service of which I am capable for the progress of Richmond."

"Luck to you in this campaign."

C. Gordon Perault, hardware merchant at Point Richmond, who recently purchased the business of City Councilman A. Fenner, it is known that he is unqualifiedly for the bonds, because as he says, he wants to see the harbor.

C. OF C. DATA GIVES PAYROLL AS $15,000,000

6,291 Men Employed At Richmond Plants By Chamber Estimates

Richmond's industrial output is $109,000,000 annually. Richmond industries have 6,291 employees.

The annual industrial payroll is close to $15,000,000. The above facts are given out by the Richmond Chamber of Commerce in refutation of the alleged fact given out by some California Chamber of Commerce which would only give Richmond an industrial output valued at $69,031,000, a payroll of $7,332,000, and 4,418 industrial employees.

CAREFUL STUDY MADE
Prior to the issuance of the latest Richmond booklet entitled, "RICHMOND—ON SAN FRANCISCO BAY," the Chamber of Commerce made a careful survey of every industry and were supplied with figures by the manufacturing plants themselves, which are known to have been conservative.

HUGE OUTPUT
These figures reveal that the value of the annual output of the Standard Oil Company alone is $30,000,000; that its payroll is $6,000,000 a year and that it employs 3075 men on the average.

Then there is the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company with an annual output valued at $5,000,000, a payroll of $1,750,000 and 600 employees; the Santa Fe Shops with a payroll of $1,500,000 and 800 employees; the Pullman Company with $1,500,000 in annual output, a payroll of $1,225,000 and 750 employees.

The Certain-teel Products Corporation last year turned out products valued at $2,500,000 with 240 employees and a payroll of $325,000.

Other large producers was the Republican Steel Package Company, the California Cap Company, the Mastercraft Tile and Roofing Company, the California Art Tile Co., the Princeton Knitting Mills, the Synthetic Iron Color Co., the Richmond Navigation and Improvement Company, the Decora Manufacturing Company and the Santa Fe Foundry and others.

Man Hurt In Plunge Off Thirtieth

Lacy Morton, 1229 Regent street, Alameda, suffered a badly cut right leg and severe face and body cuts and bruises last night when the car in which he was riding plunged from the pavements at South Thirtieth street ten feet below into the mud left by the bay at low tide. Harold Chappell, 482 Twenty-fifth street, Oakland, driver of the car, was uninjured. Their car, a light touring, was completely wrecked.

According to Chappell he had abandoned a car in San Pablo last week. The car, disabled, was towed by the local police to a local garage where it was held while a check-up was made on the owner. Last night Chappell and Morton decided to come to San Pablo and tow the car home. Not knowing the streets here, Chappell came down Cutting boulevard and turned at Thirtieth street. He declared he did not see the end of the street.

DESSAU, Germany, Aug. 3.—The Junker plane Europa, one of two planes which started on an endurance test at 5 o'clock this morning, was still going strong at 10 o'clock tonight.

The other plane, piloted by Pilot Herman von Koch, was ordered down after four and one-half hours of flying because its flight was impeded by its heavy landing gear. The plane came down in a plowed field and was badly shaken. Gas fumes, produced by the impact, rendered Koch unconscious.

Hearing Into Check Case Put Over

RIOTS FEARED AS RESULT OF CASE DECISION

Prisoners Not Informed
Of Doom; Governor
Has Breakdown

(City Universal Service)
BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 3.—Sacco and Vanzetti will die on August 10, Governor Fuller of Massachusetts sealed their fate tonight. His decision awaited with anxiety throughout the world says:

"As the result of my investigations I find no sufficient justification for executive intervention. 'I believe with the jury that these men Sacco and Vanzetti were guilty and had a fair trial. Furthermore I believe that there was no justifiable reason for giving them a new trial.'"

As word of the decision was flashed from the state house to police headquarters every available reserve in the city was rushed to a station at various public buildings. The governor was en route to his home after a visit to his son in the Massachusetts general hospital. He was utterly worn out from the strain of the probe and decision.

The doomed prisoners, asleep in the death cells at Charlestown state prison, were not notified of the decision. They will be told by Warden Hendry tomorrow that they must die.

The governor's decision on the case was the same decision arrived at by his advisory committee composed of President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard, President Samuel Stratton of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Judge Robert Grant. They made a separate probe of the case.

Judge Webster Thayer, accused of prejudice and violent statements against the men during the trial before him, was completely vindicated by the governor's probe and that of the committee.

The governor's decision was given to reporters at 11:25 p. m., and covered seven pages.

EQUAL RIGHTS FOR WOMEN

Equal rights for women as well as men is an attractive slogan, but like all slogans, is worthy of examination before it is indorsed at first hand. The equal rights of women to guardianship, to wages, to positions in the government in competition with men, will not be seriously denied. It is well, however, to remember that if the equal rights program is incorporated in our Constitution, as the lady visitors to the president in the Black Hills recently demanded that women also automatically become subject to the equal responsibilities of men.

The incorporation of equal rights into our Constitution wipes from the statute books at once a great mass of laws which have been carefully enacted to protect women. This is one of the sad cases where it is impossible to eat your cake and have it too, and once equality becomes the standard, the laws providing for the limitation of hours of labor for women, the laws relating to widow's pensions, the laws relating to maternity aid, and, finally all the laws by which widows of our soldiers and sailors are given federal aid become so many dead-letter documents.

This is a side of the subject which the gracefully and handsomely-dressed ladies who journeyed to the Black Hills in parlor cars and in limousines have so far failed to emphasize. The president as usual, was equal to the emergency when he told the ladies that when it was evident the majority of the women of the nation wanted this constitutional amendment he was satisfied they would no doubt secure it.

A Philadelphia traffic cop arrested a college professor for trying to dispute with him as to where Thomas Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence. This must have been some debate as college professors and traffic policemen knew everything.

One by one our drug-store cowboys are coming around to the hard, historical truth that America never had a great national hero with patent-leather hair.—Detroit News.

A chemical expert suggests that some city be bombarded with gas just to show how humane it is. We suggest that it would be better to try it out first on something like a state legislature.

A Berlin couple were married the other day in an aeroplane above two churches. Needless to say the ceremony was performed at high noon.

Curious how these special sessions start out with love-feasts between the legislature and the governor and wind up with vetoes and hard words.

MARRIAGE PROBLEMS

There are few people more exasperating than the jealous young wife who, at the slightest provocation, believes that her husband has not been on the level, and who will not listen to reason. In nine cases out of ten she knows she is magnifying some trifle, yet she seems to take a strange delight in dramatizing the situation and making a martyr of herself.

SAYS THE MAN

Dear Patricia:—

I have been married less than a year, but I am already facing a problem that I cannot solve. It is just a simple thing when it comes right down to facts, but it has been so distorted that my wife will not believe me. A few days ago I spent the evening with a friend. My wife is very jealous and didn't believe me, so she called up my friend and he, just as a joke, told her that I was not with him. When he saw how she took it, he told her the truth—but that was too late. The harm was already done. Now she says she is through with me forever. There seems no use to try to argue with her, so I just keep quiet—but it hurts just the same. WALTER W.

As long as your wife refuses to listen to reason the only thing to do is just what you are doing—say nothing. Tell her in a way that will convince her that when she is willing to hear your side of the story you will give it to her. If you have done no wrong you have nothing to fear. Unless I am very much mistaken, you will find her calming down before long and only too glad to hear the truth. Your friend did a very stupid thing.

Certainly that wife is to be pitied who discovers that the husband whom she trusted has proved false to his vows. But one cannot help but feel a little impatient with her when she refuses to forget while she pretends to forgive and lets her own imagination ruin her life and happiness.

SAYS THE WOMAN

Dear Patricia Lee:—

I have been married nearly eight years and have three children. Recently I was terribly shocked to learn that my husband had been carrying on a love affair with a girl in his office. I never dreamed for one moment he would do such a thing, as I had always trusted him and this has just made me ill. He has even been kinder than ever. He says he repents and begs to be forgiven. He promises that it will never happen again, and says that he can never love any one else as he does me. I have forgiven him, but I feel so miserable that I believe I am losing my mind. I just can't seem to forget, and I feel that I can never trust him again.

It is quite true that you may find it a bit difficult to place the same faith in your husband that you did before, but as long as he repents and is so devoted why keep brooding over it? He promises that it will not happen again. Can't you see that it was just a foolish infatuation which has already worn off? So why martyrize yourself and let your imagination ruin your own life and spoil the happiness of your children. If you persist in nagging him you will drive him away from you and perhaps into the waiting arms of some other woman. To be perfectly frank, I believe he has learned his lesson and that you are safer in his love now than ever before.

How To EARN MONEY at HOME.

By Sara Spence

I certainly thank you for advising me to teach English to foreigners. I did not know one word of Spanish. But I got my little class together and I talk English to them in easy sentences every night in the week. I make about $18 a week.

I think you could enlarge your income by taking the wives for an hour or so each morning. Women are slower to learn English than men.

I live in the country, and, oh how I do need money.

"POVERTY." I have a friend who lives in the country. She raises peppermint. She extracts the oil and sells it to a drug store in town. She raises other medicinal herbs, extracts the essential oils and once a month she comes to town with a case containing the bottles of precious oils. She makes a very fine living.

I am not allowed to print names but go to the publishers and ask for them. Also to the mimeographers and personal campaign people. You can get all such work you want. But let me tell you it is terribly tiresome. You will have to lug big bundles back and forth.

I have a knack for baking cakes and would like to earn a little extra money. Please advise me.

SOUTHERNER
You can make money by specializing on cakes baked to order on Sundays or holidays. Days on which unexpected guests are sure to drop in, yet days when others do not sell or deliver. Have attractive cards printed and distribute them, with the suggestion that they be tucked up in the kitchen as reminders. On the card give your price list and state that you will deliver cakes anywhere, at any time.

I am a fast and good worker on the sewing machine, but have little children, so that I cannot go out to work. Can you suggest some way of earning money at home?

MRS. R.
One woman I know does a splendid mail order business in pretty gingham kitchen aprons. She buys good non-fadeable ginghams and prints by the bolt, they are much cheaper, and goes down to Allen Street, old busy, dirty little edgings for practically nothing. Rickrack on some, bias banding on others, and they sell like hot cakes.

Mrs. Sarah Spence will answer all questions on "How to Earn Money at Home." Address her care of this paper.

What would be the right kind of food for a 7-year-old boy who is still recovering from rheumatism and is still suffering from St. Vitus dance?

Such a case needs more than diet. The usual treatment would be three to five oranges followed by milk and oranges, together with sun baths, cool baths, the practice of relaxation and deep breathing, plenty of sleep, and only moderate activity until there has been further improvement. If it seems necessary the orange diet is repeated after three weeks. Massage and spinal manipulation are often helpful.

When a Man Loves

By ALLIE LOVE MILLS

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

John Barrymore in "WHEN A MAN LOVES" is a Warner Bros. Picture.

SYNOPSIS
Fabien, poor and handsome youth of France, trains for the priesthood; but meets and loves Manon Lescout, beautiful orphan, whose rascally brother, realizing her worldly value, barters her for gold to Ravaur, rich connoisseur of women. Fabien saves her and carries her off to Paris, where they live happily together. Manon's brother steals her for Ravaur; she escapes, and returns to the deserted lovelorn, but Fabien has gone. Homeless, both roam Paris, looking for each other. Manon is seized by a roudy.

Only a thin partition and a few feet of space separated Fabien from Manon and her tormentor. He even heard the man's coarse laugh and a girl's scream. He had never heard a man's scream and she was so terrified that there was no familiar ring in her voice, however; it was a call for help, and Fabien rose to his feet. Dazed from his first bout with brandy, he staggered crazily and the landlord forced him into a seat.

"What you want to butt in for?" he growled.

Fabien feebly. "Lady, my eye—she come in here with him, didn't she?" Fabien did not know. But on second thought he decided it did not matter. He could see several women, from where he sat, and they were all caressing nobly with their male companions. It seemed to be the usual thing. The spark of chivalry faded from Fabien's eyes.

CHAPTER XI

Days and days of weary searching brought no trace of Manon. It was impossible for Fabien to concentrate on anything until she had been found. He could not return to his father and hear Manon stand next to him, and he was in no mood to resume his studies. Love had so enguished his mind and heart that he had surrendered himself to its resulting misery and declined every avenue of escape.

Tiberge was his one friend and support, without whose many voluntary loans Fabien would have starved. His courage was kept up only by the belief that Manon was true and trying as hard to find him as he was to locate her.

The passing weeks brought a change in his former neat appearance. His clothes grew shabby and he did not care. He knew that as soon as he found Manon his interest and ambition would be rekindled and he would enjoy the best life offered.

Tiberge never mentioned the call he made on Manon, yet he sensed that in some way it influenced her departure and as time passed and he saw how deeply and seriously Fabien was affected, he regretted the part he had played—not in their separation for he felt that was right—but in his friend's sorrow and broken spirit. He had never realized that love could work such havoc with a man's life.

A desire to justify his own stand, and perhaps bring Fabien to his senses, made Tiberge begin a personal search for Manon.

He was successful in locating her. Discovering the kind of life she was leading gave him complete vindication in the matter. He was right about her being the wrong type of woman for Fabien. Tiberge hurried to relate the news because he was sure that Fabien's interest and anguish would cease when he knew the truth, then he would be willing to return to his father and his calling.

They were walking along the Boulevard together when Tiberge said, "Heartache is a bitter thing to endure alone. We who love you have a right to share it—come back!"

"I shall never leave Paris until I have found Manon," replied Fabien resolutely.

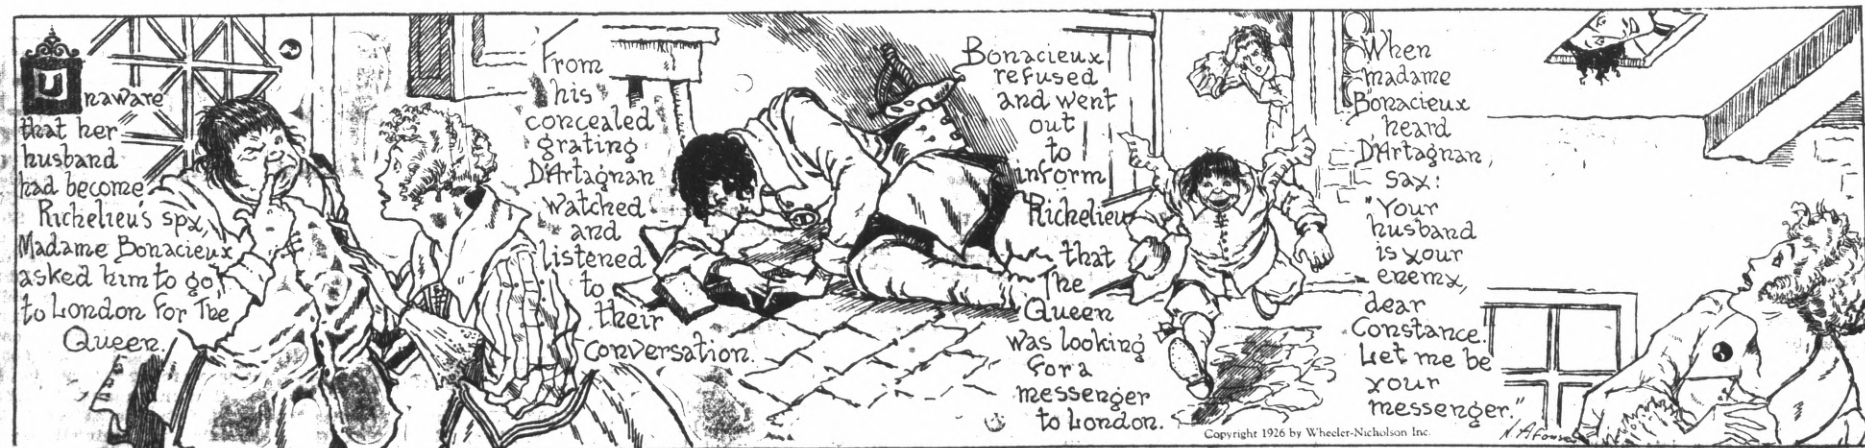

Now was Tiberge's chance. "But Manon is lost to you. She has placed herself under the protection of the Comte De Ravaur." He carefully studied Fabien's face and felt sorry for him.

"Damn you! Do you think I believe that lie?" Fabien's eyes blazed and his fists were clenched. "My friend—it is the truth! I want only to help you." Tiberge spoke soothingly but it was useless.

Fabien quickened his stride and left Tiberge behind as though he no longer desired his society. However, he had not gone more than a few paces when he stopped dead in his tracks and peered tragically into a carriage that was passing by. It was a beautiful and expensive carriage, but he did not notice that. Neither was he conscious that his rapiers and clothes were being splattered with mud from the wheels. At Clearlake Oaks

That's the place where all can enjoy the pleasures of the open country, while still having the conveniences of the city. For there are over two hundred buildings, now at Clearlake Oaks—"The Switzerland of America"—which includes a hotel accommodating 75 persons, two good restaurants, a pool hall, a new dance pavilion at the edge of the enchanting lake, a grocery, a drug store, etc. And to promote further building and improvements, there is a lumber company which sells building material at low prices.

The lake itself is over 25 miles in length, with sheltered beaches and coves, and a temperature that equals that of the famous Waikiki Beach of Honolulu. Mineral springs abound at Clearlake Oaks and this pure water is piped to every lot. The property is covered with large oaks, nuttallian and pine trees—and all property is readily accessible via good roads under State supervision.

With bathing, swimming, boating, fishing, surf-riding and all the pleasures of the outdoors within such easy reach, as well as the proximity of many famous resorts, among them Adams Springs, Bartlett Springs, Glenbrook, Blue Lakes, Harbin Springs, Geysers and the never-wearying Russian River Resorts, Clearlake Oaks will quickly become the Vacationland of North America.

The trick is to acquire a homestead there now, and enjoy it while paying for it under the most nominal and attractive arrangement ever devised, which the Richmond Record Herald offers for a short time only to its subscribers, both old and new.

Only 500 of these lots have been set aside for Record Herald readers—and they will soon be gone. Better call at the office of the Record Herald today for full information.

Globe Trotters Praise Plane Conveyance

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Most interesting of their entire six-months globe trotting trip, was the two months spent in airplaning over all Europe. Mr. and Mrs. W. K. White, wealthy San Franciscans declared today as they started on the final leg of the majestic.

The couple left San Francisco on the liner Belgenland, on a world cruise, last February. They quit the ship at Gibraltar, three months ago, and then went airplaning. Mrs. White said: "We sent our trunks to Southampton, to await our arrival. Then we went on our air trip over Europe. We visited Italy, France, Austria, Hungary, Germany, Czechoslovakia and finally concluded our air trip by flying from Paris to London."

"Airplaning is the safest means of transportation I could recommend. During our trip, which we made with just hand baggage, we must have traveled 4,000 miles by air. We never suffered any danger or discomforts, nor did we have any near accidents."

"The German planes are by far the most comfortable. They are not as jumpy as the French planes. The most thrilling part of our trip was when we were flying over the forests of Hungary. There the plane seemed to fall into pockets, and we dropped on several occasions, almost to the tree tops. Just as it seemed that we would fall into the trees, the wings of the plane took hold on the air and up we went again. I do hope we will be able to do some flying when we get back to California."

He was a member of the Richmond lodge of Elks and the Richmond Builders' exchange. He was gassed in service overseas during the world war. He is survived by six brothers and sisters.

National Sentiment Turns Toward 'Making' Cal Run

(By Universal Service)

RAPID CITY, S. D., Aug. 3.—A concerted attempt among the Coolidge republicans throughout the nation to throw their strength to Senator Simon D. Fess of Ohio as a presidential aspirant was today the outstanding feature of developments that followed President Coolidge's surprise announcement that he will not be a candidate for re-election.

Nation Astonished
Astonishment that swept the nation by the laconic declaration that he did not choose to run again grew to the proportions of a tidal wave.

President Coolidge, smiling and happy, with all the outward appearances of a man from whose shoulders a great burden has been lifted, arrived at his executive offices early in the morning to find that every messenger boy in Rapid City had preceded him.

Cal Resigned
Telegraphic messages had poured in upon the four corners of the country. To his surprise a big batch had come from the democratic South. The first telephone call had come from a Wall Street banker who had been unwilling to believe the newspaper reports of his decision not to run. The first telegram was from a woman in Dallas, Texas, urging him to reconsider.

Of the varied themes of sentiment that his declaration stirred throughout the country, the following two, literally translated, were the most common in the deluge that poured in on him today:

Urgo Sanctidney
"You have nothing to say about it. The republican party is going to re-nominate you whether you like it or not."
"You have made a good president. I regret very much your decision."
Despite how politicians regard it, the majority feeling of the nation as expressed in the messages

ARMS CONCLAVE COLLAPSES AS BREAK WIDENS

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Official Washington tonight resigned itself to the complete and utter collapse tomorrow of the Geneva Arms conference which opened so auspiciously just one short month ago.

As far as the administration here is concerned, all hope of the delegates reaching an eleventh hour agreement to save the face of the conference has been abandoned and high officials are convinced that its doom is sealed.

NO POSTPONEMENT
This attitude was reflected in the announcement of Secretary of State Kellogg that as far as known here, no suggestion has been made for another postponement of the proposed plenary session of the conference tomorrow, which is expected to be the last.

It was further indicated by the announcement that the text of the Japanese proposal for a temporary "naval building truce" regarded as the only possible basis for an agreement, has not been received here.

These facts were revealed shortly after Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador, and Secretary Kellogg held the last of their direct conferences on the Geneva situation, which apparently failed to produce any tangible suggestion for a compromise. Sir Esme returned to his summer home in Massachusetts tonight.

If an attempt is to be made at Geneva to rescue the conference from failure, it was learned here that the initiative must be taken either by the Japanese or British delegates.

The administration attitude is that the United States demonstrated its good faith to the world when it agreed to scrap its vast naval building program in 1922 and again when it issued the call for the present conference. The failure at Geneva officials believe cannot be laid at the door of the United States.

The value of reputation

THE value of a man is what he does, the worth he shows the world. He may be ever so good inside. If he doesn't prove it, he's worthless.

The value of a watch, a skillet, an automobile, is what it does, the worth it shows its users. It may be of highest serving power. If it can't prove it, it's useless. The reputation of any product is the known proof of its worth. The value of that known proof is that you can recognize it.

When you buy an advertised watch or skillet, you buy value with a reputable manufacturer's name behind it. You don't have to wait till you use it to know it. The qualities which made it advertisable have proved the worth for you. You need only ask for the product by name. Fastened securely to that name are quality, service, satisfaction.

S. O. FLAG FOR 1927 CINCHED BY BARREL HOUSE

TWO-BAGGER IN SEVENTH INNING WINS PENNANT

HOW THEY STAND

Barrel House	10	3	769
Refinery	7	6	538
Mechanics	6	8	429
All Standards	3	9	250

With the Refinery three games behind them, the Barrel House team yesterday clinched the 1927 pennant of the Standard Oil league by beating the Mechanics 7 to 6. But the way the game started out it didn't look as though it was going to turn out that way. No sir! The Mechanics clouted out six runs in the first inning. But those were the only runs they got. The Barrel House came back with four runs in the second inning and that took all the pep out of the Mechanics. Peters scored on a two-bagger of R. Fitzgerald in the third, adding another run for the Barrel tossers. From then on the Mechanics devoted all their energy to keeping the Barrel House from scoring more runs.

At that they had the game won until the seventh inning when the Barrel House decided that if they were going to get that pennant, it was the proper time right there and then to get a few more runs. And they did.

Snively scored a two-bagger, bringing in Yore and Schimpff. And that did the work. The Barrel House became 1927 champions. There are still three games to be played in the league, but the Barrel House has a safe lead and nothing can prevent them from becoming owners of the pennant.

Buttsbach started the game for the Barrel House but the Mechanics found him easy pickings in the first inning. He tightened up on them in the second and Cothran took the mound for the Barrel tossers in the third. He pitched a good brand of ball, allowing the Mechanics to get only two hits off him.

Louie Bartoli knocked the only home run of the game. It sailed over the left field fence, bringing in Arlett with him. That was in the spectacular first inning when the Mechanics showed their stuff. Bartoli's home run and a double play Snively to Schimpff to Gene Fitzgerald were the big moments of the game.

Kogler pitched the seven innings for the Mechanics. All the Barrel House could do was to get seven hits off him, but it was these seven hits that turned into minutes. Umpire, Elder Allen.

Welsh's Heart Broke From Grief At Neglect Of Former Admirers

By JAMES W. JENNINGS

It's a cold, cruel world and the fight racket is still colder and even more cruel. Flistiana once paid homage to Freddie Welsh, a boxer who was good enough to win the world's lightweight championship from Willie Ritchie in London in 1914, the year noted for the start of the world-wide conflagration.

Today the remains of Freddie Welsh bear testimony to the irony of fate and the fleetness of fame. Welsh died alone and virtually penniless in a New York hotel Thursday a little more than a decade after fight fans were hailing him as one of the greatest mitt wielders in the history of sport.

He was found on the floor of his room Thursday, where he had succumbed to what the doctor called heart disease. But every one with a grain of horse sense knows Welsh grieved himself to death. He died of a broken heart stung by the realization that the cheers of the mob mean nothing after all. No Roman audience ever cared much about a fallen gladiator, and neither does any highly civilized boxing gathering give a snootful of cinder for a fading world's champion.

Even love was fickle to Welsh, his wife having separated from him after a marriage of twenty years or more. A curious coincidence marked the passing of Welsh, who was pretty much an American, although born in Wales. On a table near by his body was found a book by Elbert Hubbard, which was opened to a passage reading: "Get your happiness out of your work or you will never know what happiness is."

Poor Freddie had been trying to find solace in literature during his lonely hours and to stimulate his dejected spirit with the thoughts of a great author. We have it on good authority that Freddie Welsh was first converted into a fighter by one Humbert J. Pugny years ago. It is believed that Welsh earned more than $20,000 in the ring, but reckless spending, much of it of a charitable nature, left him penniless. He was a student of physical culture and met his wife at a health resort.

Welsh lost his title and the big dough that goes with it to Benny Leonard.

Dinner Dance Held By Realty Salesmen

A dinner dance at the Fairmont Golf clubhouse was held by the salesmen's division of the Contra Costa County Board of Realtors, with thirty guests in attendance. Short talks were given by E. B. Bull, president of the county board, and Mrs. W. H. Sanford, well known Richmond realtor. The musical program was comprised of piano numbers by Miss Azalea Sanford, and cornet selections by Frank Pedro.

Honored guests from Walnut Creek were Miss Lorette S. Norton and Elmer Cameron. Paul Adkins presided as chairman of the evening.

THE HELENS OF BERKELEY

The Helens of Berkeley, Cal., have sort of stolen the headlines from the Dempseys and Sharkeys and Ruths and Gehrigs.

The Helens of Berkeley are Helen Wills and Helen Jacobs the party of the first part being the Wimbledon champion and the party of the second part Miss Jacobs, having designs on both sides.

It is more than passing strange that Berkeley, Cal., should have sent two great players into national prominence. At 22, Miss Wills rules the tennis world, and at 18 Miss Jacobs appears to be the one best fitted to succeed her when she falters along the road.

Hero worship, or, in this case, heroine worship, sent Helen Jacobs piling along in the footsteps of Helen Wills. Helen Jacobs worshipped from a distance at the Wills tennis shrine when Miss Wills, with her hair streaming down her back in two long braids, created a sensation in the East for the first time.

Helen Wills was not more than a kid herself at the time, but Helen Jacobs was four years younger.

It was on the same courts at Berkeley that they learned to play, although Helen Wills' first opponent was Dr. Wills, her dad. "Doc" Fuller, tennis instructor at the club, played a small part in the tennis education of both Helens, but their real experience was gained in practice brushes against Bill Johnson, Clarence Griffin and other Coast veterans.

SHE SAYS DAM AND MEANS IT

Although the Helens of Berkeley are alike in gravity away from the court, Miss Jacobs leaves her dignity and calmness in the locker room before every match.

I named Helen Wills "Miss Poker Face" some years ago because of her ability to mask her feelings. She never changes expression from the first set to the last. A cake of ice is hot in comparison to this youngster.

Helen Jacobs is a volcano in comparison. She doesn't even trouble to battle with her temper, although her mother has probably often warned her that nice girls don't say "dam" on the courts.

Miss Jacobs says "dam" and she says it with such conviction that you know she means "dam" and nothing else.

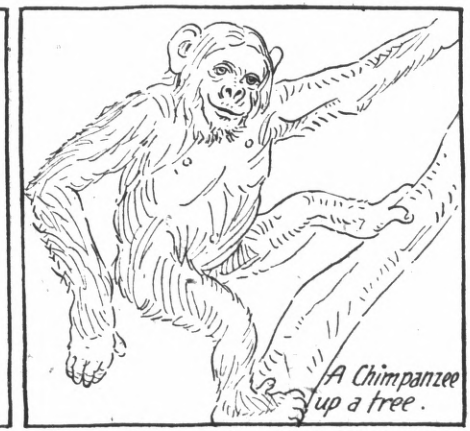

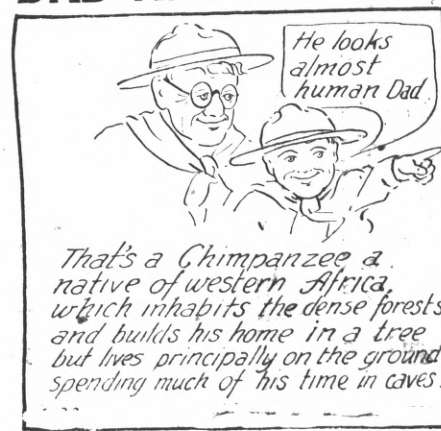

This young lady is very human. When she loses a point her expression indicates that the loss hasn't prompted her to sing Christmas carols. And when she wins a point, she acts like any 18-year-old girl should act under the circumstances. She registers pure and undiluted delight.

She has more color than Miss Wills as a tourney player and she appeals to the gallery. Helen Wills appeals, not because of her aloofness, but because of her modesty; Helen Jacobs appeals because her outbursts strike an intimate note with those who are watching her.

HEART TROUBLE
Marvelously Relieved

While visiting her daughter here in Oakland, Mrs. W. Morton of Stockton was in much great pain due to heart trouble that had affected her left hand. She could neither walk nor rest with the slightest effort. All the physicians whom she consulted expressed the opinion that she had not more than ten days to live. She truly seemed to be at the point of death when she took her first package of the Fong Wan Herbs. It was cooked for her at home, and that night she had the first rest after many weeks of terrible suffering. After four weeks of the Fong Wan Herb Treatment, she was able to return to her home in Stockton. From that city she has sent the following testimonial to the Fong Wan Herb Co.:

OWES HER LIFE TO FONG WAN HERBS
Stockton, Cal., March 21, 1927.
To the Fong Wan Herb Co.:
I have been ten days to live with valvular trouble of the heart for some time. I became so ill that my doctors, wherever many, gave me but a week or ten days to live.

I decided to try the Fong Wan Herb Co. and to the amazement of all who attended me, I was able to walk into their office after taking the Herbs one week. I have now taken them four weeks and not only have a good heart, but have also been helped in other ailments.

I cannot speak too highly of the Fong Wan Herbs as I owe my life to them. I am very grateful to Fong Wan for his kindness.

issuance of the permit. Major Schulz denied knowledge of the name of the company for which Duncan & Harrelson, the permittees, will make the boring, but in view of the fact that the Southern Pacific Railroad company had engineers in the field taking elevations and making preliminary surveys for a Bulls Head Army Point bridge, it is generally believed that the work for which permit was granted today is preliminary to the project.

IS NECESSARY

The Southern Pacific with more and faster trains, more and longer freight trains with a steady increasing freight tonnage is confronted with the necessity of increasing at once its Port Costa-Benicia train ferry service or providing other and speedier means of transportation for its trains across Carquinez Straits or Suisun bay.

BLUFFS OBSTACLE

The precipitous bluffs at Port Costa preclude the enlarging of the terminal facilities there by means of which an approach to a high elevation bridge can be provided and the next nearest convenient point for a span is from Bulls Head Point, which is within the city limits of Martinez, to Army Point just east of the Benicia city limits and adjoining the arsenal property. It is also a known fact that when the Mountain Copper smelter was located here the "high line" at that plant was surveyed and built on a grade which might at some future date be utilized by the Southern Pacific.

"HIGH LEVEL" BRIDGE

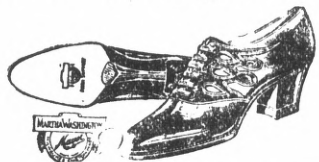

The high elevation point at Bulls Head or Suisun Point which adjoins can be reached on an easy grade by trains and the same is true on the Solano side of the bay. It therefore remains only to determine the quality and depth of the foundation for the bridge piers and to decide upon the type of bridge best suited to the needs of the War Department. The high level bridge with possibly a center lift span over the main channel for emergency use similar to the Victory Highway bridge at Antioch is considered by engineers to be the most feasible type of span.

Built In Arch Support

New Foot Wear for the active woman of today

Now the spirit of the times has touched feminine apparel in another direction. Dancing, motorcycling, golf—the same varied activities which created today's fashions of bobbed hair, short skirts and loose underthings have demanded an entirely new idea in footwear.

Distinctive new styles. Attractive combination tones, tastefully trimmed with contrasting leathers. Specially made shoes for growing girls.

Pains, cramps or callouses there are sure indications that the arch across the ball of the foot has broken down. Thousands of people suffer intense pain, cramps and burning callouses in this part of the foot without knowing the real cause.

Dr. Scholl's Arch Supports will quickly and permanently relieve this condition by gently but firmly supporting the depressed bones, and removing the strain and pressure on the weakened parts.

Perhaps you have some other form of foot trouble such as corns, bunions, weak ankles, cramped toes, painful heels, etc. If so, come in and let us give you a Free Demonstration. You will find that it is no longer necessary to suffer foot aches and pains.

Espee Auto Ferry Boats To Operate On 12 Minute Time

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.—A 12-minute schedule for automobile ferry boats, replacing the present 15-minute schedule during the busy hours of the day, will become effective tomorrow morning between the Ferry building and Oakland pier for all Southern Pacific auto ferries between those points. This announcement was made by Glenn Collins, general agent in charge of Southern Pacific's automobile ferry traffic.

In addition a more frequent schedule will be maintained during the other hours of the day, thus eliminating the possibility of delay for motorists bound to or from San Francisco via Oakland Pier.

Under the schedule which becomes effective tomorrow morning, the automobile ferries will operate at 15-minute intervals beginning at 6:30 a. m. until 10:45 a. m. At that time the 12-minute schedule will begin to operate and the boats will continue to leave every 12 minutes until 7 p. m. At that hour, the boats will start operating every 20 minutes until 1 a. m. This is also in improvement in the present schedule under which the automobile ferries to Oakland pier operated every 30 minutes in the evening.

At 1 a. m. the boats will retain on hourly schedule thus maintaining all night service between San Francisco and Oakland pier.

"This increased schedule is but another step in Southern Pacific's intention to not only keep abreast of the traffic demands but to provide more frequent service even before the traffic warrant it," said Collins. "Southern Pacific has always maintained quick, safe and adequate service between San Francisco and the East Bay points, as well as affording the most direct routes."

The road then branches into a wide pavement and ends abruptly at the bay shore. There are no danger signs at the end of the road. The accident was witnessed by a party parked on the bay shore. The police and a Wilson and Kratzer ambulance were called. Mornington was removed to the Abbott emergency hospital where he was treated. The car was towed to an Oakland garage.

European Attitude To America Told Local Kiwanis

Professor James of Mills College yesterday addressed the Richmond Kiwanis club at their meeting in Hotel Carquinez, urging a wider point of view on the part of Americans in their attitude toward Europe.

"We must be patient with European views," he said, telling of his trip through Europe to see life there. "European people live under different conditions and get their impressions from American money spenders. Foolish spending gives them the wrong impressions of Americans generally."
